

BLOCK GALLERY

CONTEMPORARY ART + EXHIBITION PROGRAM

« SFAI's 2011 Vernissage Exhibition at the Winery SF

Twitter and Facebook »

Numina Femenina: Latin Women in the Arts

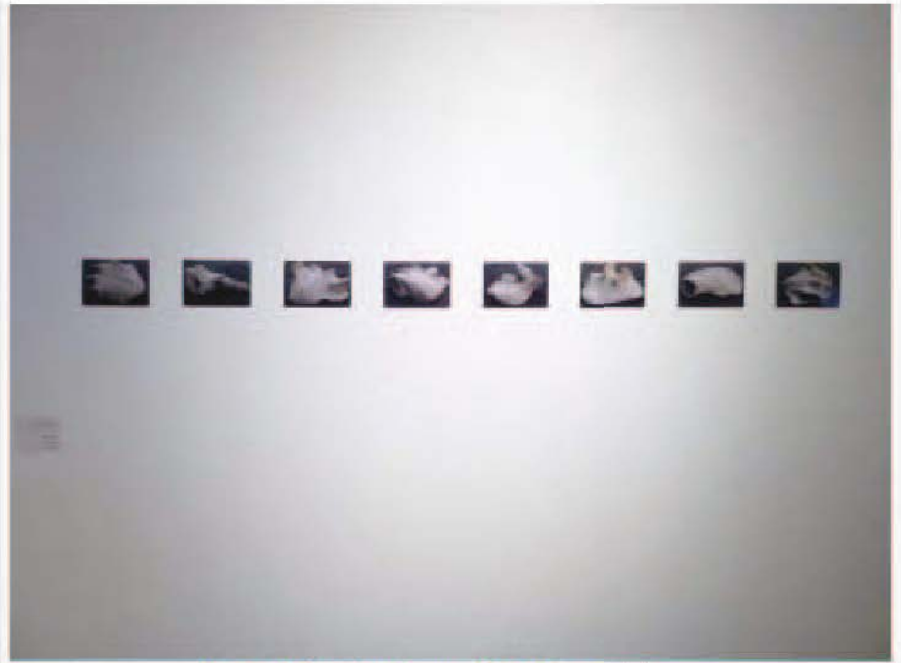

November 4, 2011 // 0

Ana Belen Cantoni (Peru/Columbia) Carta, 2011 Embroidery on veil

It's not every day that we run across a conceptual art exhibition in an alternative space, let alone one that sheds light on the harder realities of the female experience within a political space. Numina Femenina, meaning the presents of light or the spirit of women, is on display now through December 13th, 2011 at the Consulate General of Mexico in San Francisco. The show is seamlessly curated by Frida Cano and co-curated by Ana Labastida for Visual Arts, Karina Hodoyan for Literature, and Martha Rodriguez Salazar for Performing Arts.

View more photos from this event.

Sandra Calvo Manufactura, 2011 Video and photos

Detail Image: Sandra Calvo Manufactura, 2011 Video and photos

Detail Image: Maria Adela Diaz (Guatemala) My Gestalt, 2005 Lithographic printing on paper Installation

Kudos to Frida Cano and all those contributing for the amount of time and work dedicated to sharing this work with the Bay Area. We would encourage anyone who enjoys art to check out this show. Click here for more information.